Over the last few years, Graphenea has invested in expanding its team, facility and production capacity of both the Graphene Oxide and CVD Graphene Films to supply the needs of the growing graphene market. By making these strategic investments and developing a clear roadmap for both GO and CVD graphene, Graphenea has been able to keep pace with the demand of the graphene market. Ultimately, the key to success will come from working hand in hand with our industry partners to achieve their research milestones.
